10 steps) | for beginner, tutorial, how to draw manga The world of manga (manual of drawing) is more than just a world of comic art, it's a unique way of storytelling, fantasy and adventure, available for both beginners and more experienced artists. What is manga? It is a very popular kind of comic art or illustration from Japan. Any artist in the world of manga can draw their own comics and make their own stories. There are two main styles of manga art. One is the traditional way of Japanese manga art, the other is the Italian way of art, called Manga. In the style of Japanese manga, the artist uses multiple techniques including the creation of multiple page layouts, the styles of expressions, and often the shapes of animals and other creatures. Each and every page of manga art can be completed and drawn in a span of only about 20 minutes. However, Manga also includes various techniques and styles, which includes multiple techniques such as drawing multiple page layouts, multiple styles of expressions, and many different ways of character design. Although it takes time and effort to become a better artist, the beginner can try out this tutorial for their first attempt. In this tutorial, we will learn step by step about how to draw a basic manga art from the initial step of an illustration on a blank canvas to the finishing and coloring step. So, let's start! Step 1. Plot Out the Story on a Paper The first thing you need to do is to design the main characters or characters. To do that, we need to understand how and where you want to place your characters and its background on the page. Using the background as your guide, you can create your characters on your paper. Now, start by drawing a horizontal line to give the illusion that you have drawn a full page and make the characters appear as if they are on a page that is at least as wide as a sheet of paper, which you will be able to use later. Step 2. Draw a Base Line Around the Characters Here, we will add a line around the characters to help your characters stay together and don't get out of place. Next, draw a line that is one third of the way up from the top, by using it as a guide for the size of your characters. Step 3. Make Characters Simple and Flat Now, draw the first character of your story using a flat brush. When you draw the first 82157476af
